

CERL for CSR

Empowering Future Leaders:
Integrating Corporate Social Responsibility and Sustainability in Higher Education through Community Engaged Research and Learning

The Team

Katalin Ásványi, PhD

Associate Professor, Dean for Sustainability

Márta Frigyik

Manager, Corvinus Science Shop

Réka Matolay, PhD

Associate Professor, Head of Corvinus Science Shop

Community Engaged Research and Learning (CERL):
collaborative process between the lecturer, the students and the community partner, supported by the Science Shop.

Implementation Methodology

Course integration

Collaboration with community partners

Tools and technologies for engagement

Outputs, Outcomes & Impact

Practice-oriented learning experiences

Student empowerment and motivation

Tangible benefits for community partners

Advancing the UN SDGs

Transferability to other disciplines

Lessons Learned

Importance of horizontal partnerships

Shared responsibilities increase impact

Reflection fosters deeper engagement